Cooperation Between President and Congress

Citation of Record of Legislation Refutes Charges of "Do Nothing" Congress and Shows Completion of Well Defined Program

U. S. REPRESENTATIVE FRANK MONDELL (WYOMING), REPUBLICAN FLOOR LEADER

When the newly elected Republican Congress was convened in special session April 11, 1921, the nation was still legally at war with the Central Powers of Europe and the domestic problems confronting the country were of greater magnitude than any previous administration in the history of the United States had ever been called upon to solve.

The President and the Congress had a well-defined program of rehabilitation and reconstruction. In his address opening the special session of Congress the President asked the passage of a resolution declaring a state of peace between the United States and the Central Powers. He urged, in addition, the enactment of an emergency tariff, a permanent tariff, the creation of a budget system; legislation providing relief to agricultural interests; federal aid to public highways; a new tax law which would lessen the burden of public taxation and eliminate excess profits taxes; a consolidation of the various government agencies handling relief for ex-service men; a maternity and infancy welfare law; a law to punish lynching by federal statute; encouragement for and regulation of cable and radio service; and, above all else, rigid economy in appropriations for the operating expenses of the Government.

The best and the conclusive answer as to whether or not the Republican Congress has co-operated with the Republican President in carrying out the program is the citation of the record of accomplished acts. The Emergency Tariff was a law May 27. The resolution terminating a state of war between the United States and the Central Powers was in full force and effect July 2. The Budget Law was in force and effect June 10, in time to apply to the new fiscal year beginning July 1. The Sweet Bill to co-ordinate all agencies dealing with ex-service men was a law by August 9.

In order to assist the agricultural interests the Congress amended the War Finance Corporation Act, which provided a round billion dollars of new credit for agricultural and livestock interests; passed the Packers and Stockyards Act, the Capper-Tincher Act to regulate grain exchanges and the Nelson-Curtis Act, which increased the funds available for farm loans in the sum of $25,000,000.

It enacted the Maternity and Infancy Welfare Act. It appropriated

$75,000,000 for federal aid in building of public highways. It enacted a law for the protection of American owned cable and radio service. It enacted a new tax measure, which reduces the public taxation for the current year in the sum of $818,000,000, the bulk of which is saved to the man of medium income.

In addition to enacting the Budget Law creating the Budget Bureau, under which all economies which have been made by executive departments were made possible, the Congress, upon its own initiative, cut over $300,000,000 from appropriations requested by various departments and boards, thus carrying out the President's desire for rigid economy.

In addition to carrying out the President's program it enacted a restrictive immigration law. It amended the Edge Act in order to facilitate America's foreign trade. It reorganized the Philippine financial system in order to save the islands from bankruptcy as a result of maladministration under the Wilson regime. It reorganized the Postal Service and readjusted salaries in that department. In fulfillment of the President's request, the House passed a permanent tariff measure—the Fordney Bill. The House also passed the Dyer Bill, which makes lynching a federal offense and provides for federal punishment of that crime.

In his annual message to Congress in December, the President made supplementary recommendations, among them being the enactment of a co-operative marketing law; the appropriation of funds to relieve the famine in Russia; the creation of a commission to handle the refunding of our foreign loans; and the enactment of legislation to stop the issuance of tax-exempt securities.

Every one of these recommendations has been enacted into law with the exception of the one regarding the issuance of non-taxable securities and a bill to carry that recommendation into effect is now well on its way through Congress.

This record shows that the House co-operated with the President exactly 100 per cent in enacting such legislation as he recommended—a record of co-operation between the executive and legislative branches of Congress which has no equal in the annals of American legislation.

Nose-Tip Vaccination.

The aged Japanese statesman had a little, saucer-shaped scar on the tip of his nose.

"All we Japanese of the older generation have this scar," he said. "It's our vaccination mark."

"Yes, it's our vaccination mark. In the old days, when compulsory vaccination first came in, we vaccinated everybody on the tip of the nose. Why? Well, because it was a good place—no movement there, you see, to rub off the scab. Also because a vaccination mark on the nose tip was easily identified by the medical officer—no need to take off half your clothes in order to prove that you'd been vaccinated."

"Yes, nose-tip vaccination had its good points, but before the modern hankering after beauty it had to go, just as knee vaccination is going, here in the western world, before the one-piece bathing dress and the stocking rolled down to the top of the calf."

New United States Hospitals.
Before the year ended the United States public health service had added three more hospitals to the fourteen it had opened since January 1 last. It is also preparing nine other hospitals, four of which will probably be opened by May 1 and the others a little later. All of these hospitals have either been leased from private owners or taken over from the army or the navy, the new construction authorized by congress at the extra session not yet being well under way.

Hospitals planned to be opened for 1922 include the tuberculosis hospital at beautiful Dawson Springs, Ky.; Excelsior Springs, Mo., and Rutland, Mass., with a total of 920 beds; the general hospital at Fort Walla Walla, Wash., and at Norfolk, Va., with a total of 1,240 beds; and the neuropsychiatric hospital in the Bronx, New York city, with 1,000 beds.

Cold Reception.
"I have some lines addressed to D'Annunzio," said the timorous visitor. "Well, he isn't here," snapped the hard-hearted editor. "The last time I heard of 'Gabe' he was getting his mail at Fiume, but I understand he is going to leave and I don't know where he wants it forwarded."—Birmingham Age-Herald.

New York Turns to Concrete.
A reinforced concrete building sixteen stories high is to be built in the leather district of New York city, just below the Brooklyn bridge. This is a record height for such a structure on Manhattan island, where concrete has been used sparingly and only for lofts and factories.

SMALLEST SHOW HOUSE IN WORLD AT YPSILANTO

Michigan Theater Is Oldest of Its Kind and Is the Most Unique Example.

(By Associated Press)

YPSILANTI, Mich., April 14.—Ypsilanti claims the smallest theater in the country, one of the oldest of its kind anywhere and one that is regarded as a unique example of the "Little Theater Movement."

The theatrical club was started seven years ago with 15 members for a study of the drama. The organization has developed to a point where it occupies national prominence among supporters of the "Little Theater Movement."

The chief object of the club at its inception was to provide entertainment for its members. After the first year the society purchased a small barn here and remodeled it into a playhouse. The same building is in use at present. The auditorium has a seating capacity of 60 persons and is but 12x18 feet in dimensions, with a small balcony constructed from part of what formerly was a haymow. The stage has a depth of 25 feet and a proscenium arch 9x15 feet.

The interior of the theater has been painted and decorated with old English lanterns, giving it an Elizabethan appearance. The stage, however, is equipped with a modern lighting system costing $2000 and described by theatrical experts as unsurpassed within its limits by any stage in larger theaters.

Only one-act plays are offered, usually two or three of them on each night when performances are held. Following the performances players and audience join in a supper prepared in the basement of the building.

The club has become self-supporting and announces it is working toward bringing about a municipal playhouse. Every member of the society is subject to call for any performance, from scene shifting to playing a role in some play. Some of the members have shown unusual ability in scene painting and costume making.

Each play is studied in detail before being presented, costumes, announcement posters and other articles needed are prepared and if furniture necessary is not obtainable it is built by club members.

UNUSUAL AND AMERICAN

Here is something unusual in costs, quite new and thoroughly American in style. It is a snappy spring coat with a sporty flavor, made of a lovely mixture and distinguished by leather patch pockets and a leather belt. The pockets have a long slashed fringe, decorated with steel beads, and they bring to mind cowboy and Indian trappings. The collar is convertible—the sleeves a new type.
